

Siem Reap Airport Reviews

Siem Reap International Airport (IATA: REP, ICAO: VDSR) is Cambodia's busiest airport serving Siem Reap, a popular tourist destination due to nearby Angkor Wat. Siem Reap is the capital city of Siem Reap Province in northwestern Cambodia, and a popular resort town as the gateway to Angkor region.

Siem Reap Airport is the busiest airport in Cambodia in terms of passenger traffic. The airport's new terminal was inaugurated on August 28, 2006. The Cambodian government has plans to replace the airport with a new one, 60 km from Siem Reap. The airport itself is located some 6 km outside Siem Reap, just off National Route 6 north. Runway alignments are 23 & 05, with only 23 being used for takeoff, due to flight restrictions over Angkor temple.

The Siem Reap Airport resides at an elevation of 60 feet (18 m) above mean sea level. It has one runway designated 05/23 with a concrete surface measuring 2,550 by 45 metres (8,366 ft × 148 ft).
